

Constructor

PROGRAM :

```
package com.company;
import java.lang.*;
public class Main {
    public static void main(String[] args) {
        class Patient { String name;
            double height, weight;

            Patient(double w, double h) {
                weight = w;
                height = h;
            }

            double BMI() {
                return ((weight / (height * height)) * 703);
            }
        }
        class Patients {
            public void main(String[] args) {
                Patient p = new Patient(75, 156);
                System.out.println("The BMI:" + p.BMI());
            }
        }
    }
}
```